March With Me At Pride

Please join me for the 44th SF Pride Parade on Sunday, June 30th! Don't miss out on all the colorful and outrageous fun that makes Pride a must-attend event every year. For those who have never marched in the Parade before, this will be an unforgettable experience. Friends, families, children and pets are all encouraged to join in the festivities.

Date & time for the start of the parade are as follows:

*Sunday, June 30th
10:00am-1:00pm (tentative)*

To join us in the celebration, please email your name, t-shirt size and mobile number to Adam Taylor at adam.taylor@sfgov.org or call my office at 415-554-6968. If you're interested in helping to organize or get other people involved, please contact Adam. Don't miss out on this fantastic, only in San Francisco celebration!

Policy Updates

Entertainment Regulations

According to a report by the City Economist, our entertainment and nightlife industries generate $4.2 billion a year, which provides a substantial economic value-- in addition to the cultural value-- to our city. This week, the Land Use and Economic Development Committee approved my legislation to enhance our nightlife and entertainment industries. Specifically, the legislation will simplify permitting for venues (e.g., cafes, art galleries) that want to use a DJ before 10 p.m., allow limited outdoor music in plazas and courtyards, enhance and expand the enforcement powers of the Entertainment Commission, and address enforcement of excessive noise by street performers in areas like Union Square. These are important changes to the Police Code that will foster better access to responsible nightlife, while ensuring that bad actors are appropriately handled and brought into compliance. This legislation will go to the full Board for a vote next week.

Voter Information Pamphlet Legislation

Every election, voters receive a voter guide in the mail filled with important information about the upcoming election, including legal texts associated with each ballot measure. Most of the time, these texts consist of 1-4 pages. However, in our upcoming election, the referendum on 8 Washington will have 500 pages of legal text associated with it, which will cost the city upwards of $1.75 million to print and mail (the Department of Election estimates that each page in the voter guide runs about $3500.) In order to avoid having these phonebook-sized voter guides sent to every registered voter in San Francisco, I've introduced an ordinance that will allow the Department of Elections to omit any legal text that exceeds 20 pages from the mailed guides. These materials, per my legislation, will be required to be available online, in every branch library and by mail free of charge to any voter who requests it. This legislation will ensure voters continue to have access to all the information they need while avoiding the waste of city resources.

Mission Alcohol District and Valencia Street Zoning

In the early 1990s, the Mission Special Use District (MSUD) was created in response to the proliferation and clustering of problem businesses serving alcohol in the Mission. Controls within the district placed restrictions on alcohol sales and the transferring of liquor licenses. However, the unintended consequences of these restrictions have led to, among other things, freezing in place the very businesses that MSUD intended to address while preventing productive establishments, such as the Roxy Theater, from thriving. To address this, I've introduced legislation -- along with Supervisor David Campos -- to update alcohol controls in the Mission District that support businesses that contribute to the vitality of the commercial corridors while strengthening controls to protect against negative businesses. The area affected by this legislation includes significant Mission District commercial corridors such as Mission Street, Valencia Street and 24th Street. The legislation will also limit conversions of retail spaces to restaurants on a limited stretch of Valencia Street. This legislation will allow neighborhood grocery stores, which currently are barred from selling alcohol, to sell beer and wine; improve the ability of business owners to repair, renovate and make their stores compliant; and allow bars and liquor stores to move within the district, which they currently cannot do without losing their license. In addition, to address the proliferation of restaurants on Valencia Street, the legislation will require that any restaurants planning on moving into retail space on Valencia Street between 15th and 24th Street will have to go to the Planning Commission for approval. These updated controls aim to continue to protect the Mission from the proliferation of negative businesses, while allowing the neighborhood to continue to flourish as the cultural and culinary mecca it has become.

CEQA Appeals Procedures Legislation

My CEQA Appeals legislation, which will clarify and improve our current chaotic and opaque CEQA appeals process by setting clear and predictable timelines for filing appeals, continues to go through the legislative process as it works its way towards the full Board of Supervisors. My legislation has broad support from various good-government, neighborhood, transit, affordable-housing, and labor organizations. It has also been endorsed by the San Francisco Chronicle, the San Francisco Examiner, and the Bay Area Reporter. Both the Planning Commission and Historic Preservation Commission have recommended it. The legislation will be heard at Committee next week, and at that point Supervisor Kim's alternate legislation will also be ripe for a vote. At that point, with both measures before the committee, I'm hopeful that a decision will be made on which legislation to send for the Board for a vote.

Condo/TIC Conversion Update

The legislation that I've sponsored - along with Supervisor Mark Farrell - has been sent to the Land Use Committee for a hearing on new amendments that have been drafted that will hopefully lead to a resolution on this legislation to provide much needed relief for TIC owners, while still maintaining the rights of the few tenants in units that are converted. A few weeks ago, several of my colleagues (David Chiu, Norman Yee, and Jane Kim) made a first set of amendments that would allow the bypass to go forth only if controls were placed on the future lottery, including a ten-year moratorium on conversions, an increase in owner-occupancy requirements and a ban on the future conversions of 5 and 6 unit buildings. My concern with these amendments was that we could create a scenario where current TIC owners made a financial decision based on a certain set of circumstances, only to find that the rules had changed on them. I don't want to trap any current owners who invested in their homes from ever being able to convert. I'm hoping with the second round of amendments, I will be able to vote to support this much needed relief for struggling TIC owners.

Pedestrian Safety Hearing

Sidewalks and street conditions in many of our neighborhoods don't have the capacity to safely carry our pedestrian traffic. We need to focus on implementing pedestrian safety projects to improve our streets, like the sidewalk widening on Castro Street and the bulb-outs and pedestrian plaza at Dolores and Market. However these projects often get tangled up by outdated codes and interagency bureaucracy. To combat this, I've introduced pedestrian safety legislation that will be heard in a few weeks at the Land Use and Economic Development Committee. This legislation consists of four parts: an ordinance that mandates interagency coordination by creating a centralized Street Design Review Committee; an accompanying resolution calling for city agencies to modernize street code provisions, better coordinate their efforts around public projects, and formulate clear procedures to do so; an ordinance making it easier for developers to build pedestrian safety projects and gift them to the city; and an ordinance amending the Fire Code to ensure that pedestrian safety projects are not unnecessarily impeded by the code's definition of minimum street width.

Noe Valley Town Square Update and Legislation

The dream of turning a parking lot on 24th Street into a Noe Valley Town Square is moving closer to becoming a reality. Next week on Wednesday, May 22nd, the Budget and Finance Committee will hold a hearing on whether to recommend approval of the purchase of the lot on 24th Street. This is the last hurdle before going to the full Board of Supervisors for a vote. At the Rec and Park Commission hearing last month -- where the proposal was recommended for approval -- we heard many neighbors effectively make the case for the merits of this project. I encourage community members to attend the Budget Committee hearing to speak in favor of the Noe Valley Town Square. This is the last opportunity for the public to comment on the project, as there will be no opportunity for comment at the full Board. The Budget meeting will be at 1 PM on Wednesday, May 22nd in the Board Chambers. For more information, please contact my office at (415) 554-6968 or Todd David at todd@noevalleytownsquare.com.

Community Updates

Noe Courts

This week we held our first community meeting to discuss the new plans for Noe Courts. Up for review are plans to renovate the bathrooms - which have already been funded through the 2008 Parks Bond - and a broader strategy to improve the park, part of which will be funded through a grant secured by the Friends of Noe Courts. At the community meeting last night, representatives from Rec and Park and DPW described the bathroom project and presented maps on the current conditions of the park. After this, meeting attendees broke out into working groups so that neighbors could share their ideas and hopes for the park. There will be another meeting in about a month when City staff will return with concept plans drawn from last night's community suggestions. For those who want to find out more about the project, you can contact the Recreation and Parks Department project manager Marvin Yee at Marvin.Yee@sfgov.org.

Castro Streetscape

On Tuesday night, we held the final community planning meeting for the Castro Streetscape Project, where the final conceptual design was unveiled. The workshop presentation, final conceptual design and related materials are available on-line. For more information, contact Nick Perry at (415) 575-9066 or at Nicholas.perry@sfgov.org.

Diamond and Bosworth Improvements

The Diamond/Bosworth intersection has had draft conceptual drawings developed to add pedestrian bulb-outs. These drawings are currently being reviewed by the SFMTA Sustainable Streets and Transit Divisions. They will be then presented to various city departments such as the Planning Department and the Fire Department for further comments. Surveying of the area will be performed in conjunction with the city department review. Upon approval of the draft conceptual drawings they will, with any changes, be handed of the Department of Public Works to develop the construction drawings. An amendment to address differences between the conceptual drawings and the original Environmental document will concurrently be performed with the development of the construction drawings.

Bill Kraus Meadow

The Bill Kraus Meadow and Pathway has been a part of Corona Heights Park for decades since after his death in 1985, but in recent years the sign marking the meadow and path was painted over and nothing remained to mark the meadow. Bill Kraus was a former President of the Harvey Milk Club, aide to Supervisor Harry Britt and Democratic congress members Philip and Sala Burton. He was diagnosed with AIDS in 1984 and died two years later. Money is now being raised to install a bulletin board or kiosk in the park, and this could be an opportunity to recognize Kraus. Anyone interested in helping with the naming effort can contact John Mehring at johnmehring@hotmail.com.

Small Business Month Awning Fee and Lighting Waiver

To celebrate Small Business Month, Supervisor Katy Tang sponsored legislation that the full Board passed, to provide assistance to small businesses seeking to replace their store awnings and signs. Under this legislation, awning replacement and pedestrian level lighting permits for small businesses will be waived for the month. For more information, please contact the Department of Building Inspections at (415) 558-6088 or visit www.sfdbi.org.

Rec and Park Summer Program Registration Begins

Saturday May 18th

Summer is almost here. Once again, the San Francisco Recreation and Parks Department offers summer programs with hundreds of classes for the entire family, including Zumba and fitness classes, singing and dancing for adults 55 and older, and swim lessons for kids. You can register by going to www.SfRecOnline.org or visiting the McClaren Lodge in Golden Gate Park (831-6800) or one of the neighborhood registration sites, including at the Eureka Valley Recreation Center, the Harvey Milk Center for the Arts, the Randall Museum, and the Upper Noe Recreation Center.

Small Business Week at the Board of Supervisors

This week at the Board of Supervisors, I honored the owners of the Castro bars QBar, Midnight Sun, The Edge, and the soon-to-open Beaux. These owners -- Tim Eicher, Jeff Eubanks, Rob Glijum, Rob Cotterman, and John Bellemore -- have been great business owners who have brought new energy to the neighborhood bar scene and have been generous community partners. I applaud them for their success.

NERT Training

The San Francisco Neighborhood Emergency Response Team (NERT) is free training from the San Francisco Fire Department in how to help yourself and your neighbors prepare for and respond to a disaster by working together. The 20-hour training taught by First Responders includes personal preparedness, light search and rescue, disaster medicine, shutting off your utilities, and how to participate as a member of a neighborhood response team. NERT also offers continuing training for graduates and activities that support building robust neighborhood teams. For more information, visit the NERT website at <http://sfgov.org/sffdner>, or contact Lt. Erica Arteseros at (415)970-2022 or sffdner@sfgov.org.

Free Computer and Internet Classes for Seniors and Younger Adults with Disabilities

SF Connected is San Francisco's Computer Learning and Literacy Program for Seniors and Adults with Disabilities. Participants can choose from an 8-week class in computer basics, or ongoing sessions in special topics like Facebook, Skype, Genealogy, typing tutorial, online discount coupons, health resources, job training, politics and news on the web, and many other topics. Each location schedules classes independently to accommodate the needs and interests of the Seniors and Adults with disabilities in their neighborhood. There is no limit to the number of free classes or tutoring sessions a participant may choose to attend. Classes are offered in five languages: English, Spanish, Russian, Chinese and Vietnamese.
