NORMAN YEE

Record Number of Votes for Supervisor Yee's District 7 Participatory Budgeting

District 7 residents came out in record numbers to vote for this year's Participatory Budgeting. Participatory Budgeting allows people who live, work, and play in District 7 to submit proposals for neighborhood improvement projects. District 7 residents then decide which proposals will be ultimately funded through a voting process. This year, Supervisor Norman Yee was the only supervisor to secure funds for this completely community-driven process. In total, more than 11,000 votes were cast for all proposals.

Congratulations District 7 and the Winning Proposals!

$75,000 Proposal

- Renewed Area Celebrating West Portal's Past, Present, and Future-
  - West Portal Elementary will revitalize its largest schoolyard to become part of a recreation complex with adjacent West Portal Park. ## NORMAN YEE

- Celebrating 100-Year Anniversary of West Portal Campaign-$25,000
  - Increasing West Portal's visibility and public appeal with advertising, events, and a map/directory that showcase all the wonderful shops, restaurants, and businesses in the neighborhood and to host a community street event with a celebration
- Sunnyside Park Landscape Enclosures- $25,000
  - Located on a steep hillside and surrounded by homes, this project will replace original rotting natural materials with permanent metal. These "gentle reminders" encourage plant growth, alleviates intrusive viewing downhill into backyards, and assist in efforts to control erosion on an uphill slope
- Stonestown Capital Improvement Grant for senior services- $25,000
  - Will increase nutrition based social services including expanding take home meals programs, on-site lunches, nutritional/ healthy cooking demonstrations, and program space for cooking camps for youth.
- Connecting Youth to nature in the City's Green Hairstreak Corridor - $18,800
  - Nature in the City will restore butterfly habitat at a brand new site at 14th Avenue and Rivera Street and present a two-day Green Hairstreak Butterfly Festival with Hoover Middle School, Kids in Parks, and San Francisco State University.

Culture

- West Portal Elementary Neighborhood Green Picnic Pavilion and Play Yard- $25,000
- Commodore Sloat Community Playground Renovation-$23,000
- Laguna Honda Boulevard Mural- $25,000
- Community Book Shares to Promote Community and Literacy - $5,000
  - Community book shares in the form of little free libraries will be installed in front of willing households and community centers with their goal to create a community-based, self-sufficient project.
