13 Be it ordained by the People of the City and County of San Francisco:

14 Section 1. Findings.

15 1. One of the primary purposes of the City's public financing program is to combat 16 corruption and the appearance of corruption in local politics. By decreasing candidates' 17 reliance on private campaign contributions, the City's public financing program reduces the 18 possibility that contributions will allow private, relatively wealthy individuals to receive 19 disproportionate access to City decision-makers or exercise undue influence with City elected 20 officials. Lessening the need for private fund-raising also increases public confidence that 21 City elected officials will act solely in the City's best interests.

22 2. The City's public financing program, by decreasing pressures to fund-raise from 23 private, relatively wealthy sources, also encourages candidates to address the needs and 24 concerns of a socio-economically broader group of San Francisco residents. It also allows 25 candidates, during their election efforts, to engage City residents on local issues instead of focusing on fund-raising. These effects fulfill the fundamental purposes of democratic

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS

1 government and decrease the public perception of corruption among elected officials. For 2 incumbents, decreasing the need to fund-raise also increases the amount of time that they 3 that can spend on governing instead of fund-raising.

4 3. The independent expenditure ceilings employed by the City's public financing
5 program are the sole means by which the City can attract viable candidates to participate.
6 Viable candidates will only participate in a public financing program if ~~it~~ the program ensures 7 that participating candidates will not be easily outspent by non-participating candidates or 8 third-parties. Without adjustable expenditure ceilings, candidates would not participate in the 9 program, and low participation rates would render the program ineffective.

10 4. Since its inception in November 2000, the City's public financing program has 11 been a success. For the past ~~decade~~, many candidates seeking election to either the office of 12 Mayor or the Board of Supervisors have participated in the City's public financing program.

13 Section 2. The San Francisco Campaign and Governmental Conduct Code is hereby 14 amended by amending Sections 1.138, 1.140, 1.143, 1.144, 1.154, and 1.170 to read as
