

Appeal Filing to the Board of Supervisors

Conditional Use Appeal

Planning Code, Section 308.1

The decision of the City Planning Commission either approving or disapproving an application for a reclassification or a conditional use of property is final unless a valid appeal to the Board of Supervisors is filed in accordance with the procedures listed below. These paragraphs are written to provide a summary of the process. Further details are contained in Planning Code, Section 308.1. In case of conflict between these paragraphs and the Planning Code, the Planning Code provisions control.

Who May File An Appeal:

Any person may file an appeal, provided the notice of appeal is subscribed either by the owners (as shown on the City's tax records) of at least 20% of the land area described in the next two paragraphs or subscribed by five members of the Board of Supervisors. Street areas do not count in the area calculation. Other government-owned property is not counted unless the government agency concerned is itself a subscriber to the appeal.

If Disapproved:

When a proposed amendment of conditional use has been disapproved by the City Planning Commission, the property affected shall be deemed to be all property within the area that is the subject of the application for amendment or conditional use, and within 300 feet of all exterior boundaries of the property that is the subject of the application.

If Approved:

When a proposed conditional use has been approved by the City Planning Commission, the property affected shall be deemed to be all property within 300 feet of all exterior boundaries of the property for which the conditional use has been approved by the City Planning Commission, excluding the property for which the approval has been given.

NOTE: When a property is held in joint ownership, the signatures of joint owners shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of Planning Code, Section 308.1\(b\)4.

Thus, if property is owned jointly by a husband and wife, the signature of only one counts as representing only half of the square footage.
