Establishing an Emergency Room Diversion Task Force to be comprised of three working committees with the charge of making recommendations to the Mayor and the Board of Supervisors and setting forth the membership and duties of the task force.

WHEREAS, Frequent use of the Emergency Department reflects the urban social problems of homelessness, poverty, alcohol abuse and chronic illness; and,

WHEREAS, Often times, hospital emergency departments because of their inability to serve all clients that are transported to the emergency room will go into what is known as diversion; and

WHEREAS, Diversion is the practice of redirecting an ambulance away from a hospital's emergency department and has become a well documented national phenomena; and,

WHEREAS, The underlying causes for diversion, and hospital and emergency department overcrowding include: Increased complexity and acuity of patients presenting to emergency departments; overall, increase in patient volume; lack of beds for patients admitted to hospitals; and shortage of physical plant space within the emergency department; and,

WHEREAS, Diversion prevents patients from reaching their hospital of choice, and slows the inflow of patients and redistributes them to hospitals of choice; and,

WHEREAS, Diversion may be one strategy to cope with the temporary mismatches of demand for emergency care and supply of emergency care treatment capacity, however, it does nothing to improve the outflow of patients from a hospital; and.
WHEREAS, A total of 20.5% of all San Francisco General Hospital visits from 1993 to 1998 were made by 3.9% of their patients and were more likely to be seen for alcohol dependence, intoxication and withdrawals; and

WHEREAS, Public emergency departments could refer large numbers of patients to appointments at primary care facilities if the availability and coordination of primary care services were enhanced for low-income populations, particularly the uninsured; and,

WHEREAS, The absence of a relationship with a regular doctor was correlated with the use of the Emergency Department for selected non-urgent conditions; maintaining a relationship with a regular physician may reduced non-urgent use of the Emergency Department;

WHEREAS, On May 22nd, 2001, the Public Health and Environment Committee held a hearing to discern the increase in emergency room admissions and what measures could be taken to accommodate need while reducing the number of admission if possible, and to explore the issue of diversion management; and,

WHEREAS, several key solutions were raised by members of the public concerning the health needs of San Francisco residents, specifically mitigating the practice of hospital emergency departments going into diversion; and,

WHEREAS, That the City and County of San Francisco Board of Supervisors encourages the establishment of public and private healthcare leadership to convene in order to discuss and develop short-term and long-term strategies to improve hospital capacity and utilization in order to meet the health needs of all San Francisco residents; now, therefore, be it
